

Introduction to Beekeeping Course

Greenmyres Eco Bothy

Saturday 10th May 2025, 09:30-16:30

This is a beginners' course for anyone considering taking up beekeeping or simply wishing to learn more about honey bees. We'll meet in the Huntly Development Trust's Greenmyres Eco Bothy for a presentation then, after lunch, weather permitting, you will meet the bees. We will lend you a bee suit and gloves, show you the fascinating world inside a hive of bees and teach you the basics of handling them.

During the day you will learn about the life history of the honeybee and find out what is required to get you started as a beekeeper.

We ask for a donation of £40 for the course and this includes refreshments during the day, a light sandwich lunch and the use of the protective clothing when we meet for the demonstrations in the apiary.

Ticket sales are live now on TicketTailor and can be accessed through this link:

<https://buytickets.at/moraybeekeepersassociation/scio/1506592>

If you want any further information then please email me on:

training.john@moraybeekeepers.co.uk

Or phone: 07808773891

We look forward to meeting you in May at the Greenmyres apiary.